DEAR FRIENDS!

Come all to Dresden AND to Paderborn/Büren! Two german wide large-scale demonstrations of the anti-racist movement in a row: next Saturday (24 August) for the We'll Come United Power Parade Block in the Indivisible Demonstration, one week later (31 August) for the central demonstration against deportation prisons. Two strong signals in the summer of solidarity - together against the racism of the street and against the racism of the institutions.

Making daily struggles visible, encouraging each other, never giving up: these were and remain central motivations at We'll Come United. And at least two events and developments of the last weeks impressively demonstrate the continuity of the struggles: the Transborder Summer Camp in France at the beginning of July and the return of the civilian rescue fleet in the central Medi-terranean at the beginning of August.

From the closing statement of the Summer Camp Orga crew of 16 July: "We are still speechless and touched: with more than 500 activists from all over Europe and northern and western Africa we shared amazing days of mutual empowerment and strategical exchange. Our concept, mainly to approach networks of daily practice and to invite friends via friends, might have contributed to an atmosphere, which was characterised by strong respect for each other and by incredible self-organisation. Despite and against the dominance of the right wing rollback and nationalist polarisation, the transborder summer camp created a space of hope, strength and solidarity - with a clear commitment to go on and extend the infrastructure for freedom of movement and equal social rights to and in all our different realities.“

From a speech of WatchTheMed Alarm Phones during a demonstration of sea bridge in Frankfurt on 10 August: "It is remarkable: despite and against all the repressions of the last two years, despite and against the con-tinued criminalisation of sea rescue, five ships of sea rescue organisations are again in action today. Ocean Viking and Open Arms have already been mentioned. In addition there are Alan Kurdi, See Watch and the Italian rescue ship Mare Jonio. Together with the two small aircraft Moonbird and Colibri as well as with our Alarm Phone we try to form a first rescue chain in the Mediterranean Sea. The aim is to build corridors of solidarity that oppose the murderous policy of exclusion by the EU and the nation states in a practical and concrete way. From the high seas to the cities, we want and must develop infrastructures that follow the tenacity of migratory movements: for a Europe of welcome, for the right to come and stay.“

Last but not least, Fridays for Future and climate justice groups are mobilising for global strike days on 20 September. The Seebrücke has already published a call for support. At the Climate Camp in Pödelwitz near Leipzig at the beginning of August, anti-racism, flight and migration were main themes of the conference. And in October, a strategy conference in Berlin will focus on the cross-over between different social movements. In more and more places and spaces discussions on comprehensive questions for a socio-ecological transformation are present - in which the demands for freedom of movement and equal rights have meanwhile become a given part.

In this spirit: for bridges instead of walls! Open the borders - especially in people's minds!

Solidary greetings from the compass crew

DATES AND INFORMATION FOR THE END OF AUGUST + SEPTEMBER 2019

24.08.2019 DRESDEN: POWER PARADE BLOCK OF WE'LL COME UNITED WITH FURTHER NETWORKS AT INDIVISIBLE DEMONSTRATION

From the press release: "Together we are the future - also in Saxony!

Migrants, antifascists and sea rescuers found a joint initiative Dresden/Berlin, 12.08.2019 - Migrant, anti-racist and anti-fascist organisations have joined forces to form a long-term initiative under the motto "Defending Solidarity". Their cooperation pursues the goal of better networking projects in Saxony and East Germany and providing germanwide support. In addition, the voices of migrants and refugees are to be strengthened. Numerous events, a donation campaign and a three-day event with members of the NSU victims in Chemnitz are planned. The loud start of the initiative will be a block of eleven trucks with different topics at the #Undivisible-Demo on 24 August in Dresden.

Cooperation strengthens initiatives against racism

The alliance is not just a reaction to the shift to the right. Migrant organizations and anti-fascist work should be better connected. "We will show that we stick together. We don't have to start from scratch: Many people face racism on a daily basis, but they are criminalised, intimidated and attacked by politics. Our initiative is opposed to this. The fight against the new fascism is fought in everyday life, in the villages and in the districts. Together we are the future - also in Saxony", says Vincent Bababoutilabo of the Tribunal 'Dissolve NSU Complex'. AFD is the "tip of the iceberg"

The shift to the right is progressing and it is possible that the AFD will not only become the strongest party after the state elections on September 1 in Saxony, but also part of a future state government. "It is time to act and prevent the right-wing march through. We will not rely on parties and governments that are part of the problem. After all, it was not the AFD that always passed new asylum laws, covered up the NSU, criminalised sea rescue or had antifascists beaten up by the police," said Sophie Winter of the campaign "Nationalism is no alternative" (NIKA).

Criticism of the division of society

This is to be made visible at the demonstration on 24 August.

"Our message is clear: the division of society does not begin with the racism of the AFD. It begins with racist laws and with the deprivation of rights of refugees and migrants. An indivisible society exists only where all people have the same rights: On participation, on a life in dignity, on health, education and freedom of movement. No matter where they come from or what their passport is," says Newroz Duman of the "We'll Come United" network.

The initiative includes, among others, the Iuventa10 sea rescuers accused in Italy, the Tribunal 'Dissolve NSU Complex', the anti-fascist campaign 'Nationalism is no Alternative' (NIKA) and the nationwide refugee network We'll Come United as well as numerous Saxon organisations and institutions.

CENTRAL MEDITERRANEAN: FURTHER FIGHT FOR EVERY BOAT

From the speech of WTM Alarm Phone during the demonstration of Seebrücke in Frankfurt at 10.08.2019: „The Alarm Phone is a hotline for people in distress at sea and yesterday morning we were once again relieved about a small success. We were able to contribute to the rescue of 80 people on Ocean

Viking, the new rescue ship of SOS Mediterranee and Doctors Without Borders. Already one week before 123 people were rescued in cooperation with the Spanish rescue ship Open Arms. The inflatable boats could be found after we had been able to determine and pass on the GPS position via our emergency telephone. Our shift teams were busy all night to empower the people on sea, to calm them down and to enable them to provide their localisation. And it was a bit of luck that the so-called Libyan coast guard did not appear - as it happens almost daily at the moment - and transports the people back to the torture camps in Libya.

Yesterday afternoon, after the gladness of the successful rescue on the Ocean Viking, we witnessed when 90 people on a boat see appearing on the horizon the Libyan militias, equipped by the EU. Again and again they had begged us on the phone to make sure that this did not happen. They said that although the condition on the boat was critical, several pregnant women had to vomit a lot and they had a seriously injured person on board, everything was bearable if they were only not brought back to the torture camps in Libya at the end. After the last telephone call, the contact broke off. 90 people, including 15 children and 10 women, 5 of whom are pregnant, are now back in the camps of the externalised torturers of the European Union.

The Mediterranean is and remains a highly contested area. With all violence - and this in the truest sense of the word - the EU continues to rearm its border regime to keep refugees and migrants away from its coasts. Since long they have transformed the central Mediterranean into a proper death zone. The military and Frontex are using planes and drones to track down the small boats from the air in order to report their locations to the Libyan militias ,who have been trained and equipped beforehand. This practice of push backs is illegal, but boats should be intercepted at all costs and people are to be deterred. This is by no means just the policy of the far-right Italian Minister of the Interior, Salvini. The collaboration with Libyan militias was initiated by his Social Democratic predecessor Minniti, and this brutal and human rights violation is not least covered by the German Interior Minister Seehofer. It is an axis of shame that is responsible for the ongoing death at sea. But we promise, and that is why we are here today: we will not give up until these illegal pushbacks and murders by drowning come to an end. We will continue to fight alongside the refugees and migrants until the barbaric border regime collapses and all people can exercise their right to protection and freedom of movement...“

NEW ALARM PHONE REPORT ABOUT THE WESTERN MEDITERRANEAN

“I thought the border was a line, but it was much more: it’s the bandits, cops, military, dogs, fences, moto-mafia, guns. But it is also fear, the heart that speeds up, the body that trembles, the eyes that close, the voice that breaks. In this moment, your body is at the mercy of everything, absolutely everything.” [1]

These words of F.S., published recently in the report “Life at the Necrofrontier” by the collective Caminando Fronteras, provide a profound and graphic refutation of any talk of rational, bureaucratic border management by the EU and their counterparts. They make a mockery of the political negotiations over border lines and their protection.

In the Western Med, the local Alarm Phone teams are in direct contact with the effects of the border regime on those, like F.S., who are in direct confrontation with the EU’s ‘politics of migration’. We see the daily struggles and violent realities of people in transit. It is not easy to remain calm whilst following the abstract political discussions of border management; on how to ‘more effectively contain irregular migration flows’, whilst personally witnessing the true meaning of these bland phrases. We have friends and comrades in limbo who are reduced by this discourse to numbers and objects of negotiation. These flows, in reality, are living people until they are murdered by the measures used to contain them. Nor is it easy to follow the proposals for the reduction of sea rescue capacities[2] once you have been on the phone with people in distress at sea when there is ‘no rescue asset in the vicinity’.

In the Western Med Regional Analysis, we attempt to document the situation of people on the move through Morocco and to relate the everyday struggles to the larger political context and developments. We try to contribute to a greater awareness about the reality of externalising the EU border through its collaboration with the Kingdom of Morocco and the crucial role of the Kingdom in the attempt to shut the Western Mediterranean Migration route. ...“

BROCHÛRE ON 10 YEARS OF WELCOME TO EUROPE

„For us it was the most inspiring Noborder camp, which we ever have organized. In Lesvos in late summer 2009 about 400 noborder activists from various countries met together with hundreds of refugees and migrants, who just had arrived from Turkey with small boats on the coasts of this Greek island. Some weeks before already strong pro- tests started in the detention prison “Pagani”, at the margin of the capital city of Mytilene. Ongoing rebellions from inside and demonstrations and scandalization from outside finally led to the closure off this “hell of Dantes Inferno”, an important success against the EU policy of determent. During the noborder camp an info point was established at the port of Mytilene, which became a crucial and vivid meeting point for a week of common fights for freedom of movement.

In the middle of these struggles the idea of Welcome to Europe (w2eu) was born: to build daily structures and to provide useful multilingual information to empower and to support refugees and migrants in transit for their right to move to their desired destination. We tried to build links to the various countries of arrival and destination and within the years the network grew with every friend who arrived somewhere.

In September 2019 it is 10 years ago and we look back to an impressive common history of coming together and projects, of protest and of commemoration, and last not least of innumerable friendships, which spread with and through w2eu all over Europe.

In this brochure we want to highlight some milestones of our network during this decade. We assembled a mixture of chronology and documentation, of personal stories and reports, of quotations and photos. We hope it will offer an interesting and exciting review on the last years.

Against the background of the ongoing roll back of the deathly EU border regime this booklet is also a promise for the future: we will tear down these borders and will go on with our struggle until freedom of movement and equal rights will be reality for everybody.

REVIEW

TRANSBORDER SUMMER CAMP NEAR NANTES/FRANKREICH FOR CORRIDORS OF SOLIDARITY AGAINST THE AXIS OF SHAME!

Successful exchange and empowering atmosphere at the Transborder Summer Camp in France: More than 500 activists from across Europe, North Africa and West Africa gathered in July 2019 at the Transborder Summer Camp near Nantes in France. The network Welcome to Europe had initiated the five-day meeting and invited all practical working groups and projects along the different routes of flight and migration. The WTM Alarm Phone was alone involved with delegates from over 20 cities.

The camp started with a "Noborder-Fair", where the different groups and networks came into exchange on various information tables: Activists from the Balkan route met members of Afrique Europe Interact, Top Manta friends from Barcelona shared their experiences with activists in Izmir or Helsinki, "border crossers" from southern France exchanged experiences with We'll Come United. Already on this first day a great atmosphere of mutual empowerment developed, which shaped the spirit in the following three days in the workshops, in the assemblies and last but not least with music, theatre and dance in the evenings.

The focus of many discussions was dedicated to practical experiences and questions concerning the establishment and expansion of the infrastructure for freedom of movement and equal rights for all. It was no coincidence that "Corridors of Solidarity" ranked high in the program. The well-attended workshop on this topic was divided into three subgroups: one for the production of multilingual and cross-border information material as well as printed guides and online guides in transit and destination countries; a second on shelters and support spaces such as rest houses, (occupied) social centres or counseling cafes; a third on various hotline and alarm phone projects along the flight- and migration- routes. (...) In the middle of the final plenary session in the big tent of the Transborder Summer Camp, a fearless mole threw up his hill right next to the presenter. Some of the amused participants associated the animal with a possible surveillance of the meeting by secret services. A nicer alternative was obvious after the many successful discussions of the previous days: the mole as a symbol and request to continue working on the daily construction and extension of the "Underground Rail Road", for and with the flight and migration movements. The transnational meeting in Nantes was thrilling for so many participants because of the strong mutual inspiration and empowerment mainly on a practical level. Thus it definitely will linger on as a highlight in the history of more than 20 years of Noborder-Camps. (from a evaluation text about the transborder summer camp)

RIVER-BLOCAKDE FROM SEEBRÜCKE IN FRANKFURT AM MAIN

Aktivist*PRESS RELEASE

Action of the SEEBRÜCKE/Seabridge on 10.08.2019

Activists* of the SEEBRÜCKE and other initiatives are today blocking the traffic of goods and passengers on the river Main. The situation on the Mediterranean is thus carried into the heart of Europe. Dying on the Mediterranean sea has become part of everyday life. It is becoming more and more usual that individual freedom of movement is restricted by EU governments.

"Frankfurt is a cosmopolitan city, goods and capital can move freely here," says Christin Stühlen, Press Officer of SEEBRÜCKE Frankfurt. "We are now interrupting this flow and protesting against the daily restriction of the freedom of movement of people at the external borders of Europe. The activists* of the SEEBRÜCKE call on Frankfurt to take decisive action for a humane asylum policy. Frankfurt must declare itself a safe port city and act accordingly.

"With this action we are increasing the pressure on the city. The talks that we have held so far have been run nowhere - which is why we are now sending out a clear signal," says Georg Bosak, press spokesman for the SEEBRÜCKE Frankfurt. "While our action is running, the Open Arms and Ocean Viking on the Mediterranean are blocked ships that have rescued people in distress at sea. Frankfurt and the State of Hessen can now act and declare themselves ready to welcome these people."

The SEEBRÜCKE is a broad social movement that works with over 100 local groups germanwide for safe passages and the municipal reception of people rescued from distress at sea. Since June 2018, more than 60 cities and municipalities have declared themselves safe harbours. The municipal alliance "Cities of Safe Harbours" was founded at the SEEBRÜCKE Congress in mid-June. However, the hard and fast reception of rescued people has so far only remained a silent lip service of the cities.

18.-20.10.2019 BERLIN: STRATEGY-CONFERENCE OF BEWEGUNGSSTIFTUNG

Fridays for Future, Expropriate Deutsche Wohnen & Co., Seebrücke and many more: Thanks to the protests of social movements something is finally moving in the debate about climate protection, social justice and an open Europe.

But the challenges are huge. Now is the time to join forces and learn from each other. We are creating the space for this - with a strategy conference for social movements taking place in Berlin in October. The motto: Effective together!

ALL INFORMATION ABOUT THE CONFERENCE CAN BE FOUND HERE: WWW.BEWEGUNGSKONFERENZ.DE

01.-03.11.2019: TRIBUNAL GOES CHEMNITZ

Invitation to Chemnitz - Come all!

We will hold a 3rd tribunal in November 2019 in Chemnitz and Zwickau, after Cologne 2017 and Mannheim 2018. At the tribunal in the Schauspiel in Cologne-Mülheim, the voices of the relatives of murder victims and survivors of the NSU terror series were used to accuse those responsible for the still unresolved NSU complex. In Mannheim, the history of migration in the FRG and the struggles of those affected by racism from a Baden-Württemberg focus were discussed further, told and made visible.

From November 1 to 3, we will organize another tribunal in Chemnitz and Zwickau, the cities in which the NSU terror group lived well networked during its series of murders, where in October 2018 right-wing hunts on migrant women* and several arson attacks on migrant restaurants were carried out. We will indict those responsible for racist violence at the scene of the perpetrators and demand justice together with those affected. We will make the continuity of migration in Saxony visible, together we will sue for the society of the many, raise our voices and assert. We are the future, also in Saxony.
